Jim Martin, Angie Strecker appointed to Sunflower Foundation Board of Trustees

Washburn professor, retired Blue Cross Blue Shield executive set to start first terms on June 13; Mike Matson reappointed to board

Sunflower Foundation is pleased to announce the appointments of Jim Martin and Angie Strecker, both of Topeka, and the reappointment of Mike Matson, of Manhattan, to the foundation's nine-member Board of Trustees. The appointments are effective at the board's next meeting, June 13.

As the sole member of the Sunflower Foundation Corp., the Kansas Attorney General appoints eight of the organization's trustees, with the ninth trustee appointed by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kansas.

Kansas Attorney General Kris Kobach appointed Martin, professor and senior lecturer in the Washburn University School of Business and retired senior vice president of Westar Energy, Inc., and reappointed Matson, director of External Affairs for the Manhattan Area Chamber of Commerce.

BCBSKS President and CEO Matthew All appointed Strecker, who recently retired from BCBSKS after 38 years of service, most recently as the company's vice president of Provider and Institutional Relations.
